Packet Forensics is looking for a range of Software Developers to fill our 2016 Summer Internships. Selected students will have the opportunity to work in our software development laboratory. Students will gain experience working with real COTS devices, monitoring hardware and software, and the Linux operating environment. This is a full time (40 hours/week) position.

Packet Forensics develops specialized network equipment and software for enterprises, telecom network operators and law enforcement organizations world-wide.

ELIGIBILITY
- Junior or Senior student status, in Computer Science (or related)
- US Citizen
- C/C++ programming experience

PREFERRED
- Experience in Network Analytics, Embedded Systems & GNU Radio
- Linux experience (Ubuntu or similar)
- Programming skills: NodeJS and advanced Python skills
- Web application design
- Database technologies
- Experience with Wireshark or other protocol analyzers

TO APPLY
- Submit your Resume and Cover Letter to recruiter@packetforensics.com