Summer Position – Django Skills

We seek to hire a student (undergraduate or graduate) for the summer who has Django skills. This is an hourly position for the summer (nominally 20 hours per week, but could go up to 40 hours in a special case). This work is part of a web app development effort. If things work out well in the summer, the work could possibly continue in the Fall (this is not mandatory; e.g., if a student has Fall commitments, that is fine if (s)he only works during the summer). We need someone who already possesses Django-related software development skills because project deadlines do not allow for much training or ramp-up time.

If interested, please contact Chris Kuhlman at ckuhlman@vt.edu.