ListenFirst Media
New York City

ListenFirst Media (http://listenfirstmedia.com/) is a New York City social media analytics company looking for driven engineering and computer science graduates. Nearing 50 employees and rapidly growing, we pride ourselves on being problem solvers and builders in a continuously evolving industry.

ListenFirst products empower our users to report and recommend on some of the biggest moves in social media marketing. We are heavily relied upon by research and marketing divisions shaping the modern social analytics landscape. Our growing client base spans industries such as entertainment, consumer goods, pharmaceutical, hospitality, fashion, liquor/beverage, healthcare, financial and non-profit.

What you can expect at ListenFirst Media:
- A working environment that fosters independence, hard-work, and dedication without unnecessary bureaucracy and hierarchy
- Opportunity to work with a wide array of technologies, including AWS, Ruby, Go, and a modern, cross-platform web stack
- A chance to adopt industry leading Open Source technologies such as Redis, Postgres and Kafka
- Opportunity to touch everything from data science to UX development depending on need and personal interest
- Competitive salary, benefits, and other perks
- A place where you can be involved from the ground floor up; to have a meaningful impact on strategic business and technical decisions

Here's some of the cool things being built at ListenFirst:

If you are looking to become part of a young future-facing big data company in the growing social media industry with solid business underpinnings, contact us at jobs@listenfirstmedia.com and be sure to visit our jobs page at http://www.listenfirstmedia.com/careers.html.